One Killed, One Critical In Accident

ONE man was killed and another critically injured at 3:10 a.m. when their car left Route 940, one mile west of Pocono Lake, and struck a tree.

John N. Shovlin, 26, of 706 Center St., Freeland, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. James Kitchen of Pocono Lake, Monroe County deputy coroner, who said he died of multiple internal injuries.

Francis F. Petrichko, 27, of 527 Center St., Freeland, identified by State Police at Fern Ridge as the driver, is in critical condition in Monroe County General Hospital with a concussion, lacerations of one or both kidneys and multiple cuts and bruises.

Returning Home

Troopers said the two men had taken Petrichko's mother to visit relatives in the Canadensis area Monday night and were returning to Freeland when the accident occurred.

It was wet and foggy, troopers said, when the westbound car left the north side of the road and continued for about 40 feet before striking the tree.

The right side of the car was torn off the vehicle spun around and stopped facing east. Shovlin was thrown from the car.

Shovlin was a veteran of U.S. Navy service from 1956 to 1960 and was employed by Triangle Cable Corp., New Brunswick, N.J. A native of Jeddo, he was the son of Mrs. Vera Warner Shovlin, Freeland, and Frank Shovlin.

He was a member of Drake War Veterans Assn., Hazleton, and the Jeddo Stars Athletic Assn.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by two brothers, James, in the Air Force, and Francis, in the Army, and two sisters, Mrs. William Bloese, Athens, and Mrs. James Klingerman, Cary, N.C.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Yeager Funeral Home, Mountaintop.

GOUGED TREES — Piece of metal from car driven by Francis F. Petrichko, Freeland, lies between trees which car hit when it left Route 940 early yesterday, killing Shovlin and critically injuring Petrichko. Trees show force of impact, with bark gouged from them.

AMA, Kennedy Still Apart On Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and the American Medical Association restated their opposing positions on medical care for the aged at a White House conference Tuesday with no agreement in sight.

Afterward, Dr. Leonard Larson, AMA president, told reporters

there was no switch of views, no compromise suggested and no evidence of possible accommodation.

Larson, six other AMA executives and Secretary of Welfare Abraham A. Ribicoff met with Kennedy less than an hour. The meeting, Ribicoff said, was called on the initiative of the President.

Numerous Issues

Larson said the discussion touched on numerous national health issues, including drug legislation, physical fitness, mass vaccinations and immunization. But the main issue was the administration's medical care plan under Social Security, now awaiting action in Congress.

Larson, reaffirming the AMA's objections, said more and more people, including elderly citizens, were switching from support to opposition.

A report given Kennedy earlier by House Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts said public sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of the plan, according to information brought back by congressmen returning from Easter vacations. McCormack expressed optimism the legislation would pass the House.

Neither Changed

Ribicoff, summing up results of the meeting, said, "There is no question that the President did not change the AMA's mind, or that the AMA changed the President's mind."

But he said Kennedy left no doubt he expects the King-Anderson bill, which embraces the medical care plan, to be approved by Congress and that he is ready to fight for it.

Dr. Edward F. Annis, chairman of the AMA speakers bureau, presented the AMA's case, which has centered on the contention the Kennedy approach would lead to socialized medicine.

Other Points

Larson said the discussion also involved:

- An invitation for Kennedy to address the first national Congress on Medical Health in Chicago next October, and the President indicated he would do so if possible.

- Funds for medical research, the problem of medical school facilities.
- A brief review of problems of the Health Resources Advisory Committee.

The governor said Tuesday he had taken the action in view of questions raised by representatives of newspapers. He said the veto would permit full consideration of the newspaper objections.

The measure would have made it a misdemeanor to transmit gambling information anywhere within the state for illegal gambling purposes. The bill specifically had exempted radio and television broadcast of racing events.

Rescued GIs Report No Mistreatment

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two young U.S. Army sergeants were released by Communist guerrillas after 22 days of captivity Tuesday. They said they were kept bound the entire time but that their captors fed them rice and showed no brutality.

The men, Francis Quinn of Niagara Falls, N.Y., and George E. Groom of St. Joseph, Mo., looked tired but otherwise healthy and unharmed when they stepped from the plane that brought them to Saigon.

No Brutality

They told debriefing officers they had been held throughout their captivity on a mountain top near where they were caught April 8. They denied rumors that they had been led through villages and exhibited for propaganda purposes.

Quinn and Groom were released less than five miles from the spot near the coastal town of Da Nang where they were ambushed with two other American soldiers and 31 Vietnamese trainees.

The other Americans, Sgt. Wayne E. Marchand of Plattsmouth, Neb., and Sgt. James Gabriel of Honolulu, did not survive. They were wounded, and their bodies were later found less than two miles from the scene of the fight.

Shielded From Newsmen

Both Quinn and Groom were shielded from newsmen, but in relating their ordeal to debriefing officers they told of carrying their wounded comrades for over a mile until the Viet Cong guerrillas ordered them to put them down. Quinn and Groom said they did not witness the final moments of the injured men.

The two men said their captors fed them rice several times a day. Doctors pronounced the two in good condition and said they would be ready for duty after a few days of rest.

The sergeants said the communists gave no reason for freeing them, causing speculation it may have been done as a May Day gesture.

They said that after their release it took two and a half hours to make their way down the mountain top on which they had been held. They were guided by a mountaineer working for the Viet Cong.

Reached Village

They reached a group of villagers who led them to a local village guard post, and from there they were evacuated by helicopter to Da Nang, near where the ambush had occurred, and flown to Saigon.

Quinn and Groom were clean shaven when they arrived and wearing the camouflage uniforms and berets of the Army special forces to which they belong.

A team of officers, physicians and a U.S. Army chaplain were on hand to receive them at Saigon's airport.

Intelligence officers declined to say whether the Communists had tried to indoctrinate the two politically or to disclose whether the men may have undergone interrogation.

The two were expected to be present at a news conference Wednesday.

They were also expected to be called in for a talk with Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of the U.S. forces backing South Viet Nam in its war against the Communists.

The two were the first American captives of the Viet Cong released alive. Another soldier, Spec. 4 George F. Fryett Jr., disappeared from Saigon last Christmas and has not been heard from since.

Present indications are that the leaders do not have the necessary two-thirds majority of those voting to cut off debate.

If that should prove to be the case, Mansfield said he will seek an expression of sentiment on the merits of the measure before deciding whether to drop the fight.

In announcing that he and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois will file a cloture petition Monday, Mansfield told the Senate that the seven-day-old debate has been desultory, with a very limited exchange of ideas.

"It seems to me therefore," he said, "that any undue prolongation of this discussion will serve little constructive purpose."

Under the rules, a cloture petition which is a move to close debate, comes up automatically for a vote two days after it is filed.

Past efforts to impose cloture in civil rights debates have never succeeded.

Mansfield told the Senate that if next Wednesday's effort receives the backing of a majority, but less than the required two-thirds of those voting, the leadership will attempt to obtain an expression of sentiment by another unusual procedure.

The leadership will move to table — kill — its own measure and then vote against tabling, he said. Then if the vote on the tabling motion is preponderantly against, the leadership will assume that the Senate still desires to vote on the merits of the issue, he said.

If a second effort at cloture fails, then the leadership will recognize that the Senate is "unprepared or unwilling, or unable, under its present rules, to face this issue on its merits, and it will proceed to other business."

Defeat of the cloture petition would leave the bill pigeonholed in the Senate Judiciary Committee.

President Kennedy asked for the measure, which would prohibit the states from denying the ballot on literacy grounds to any otherwise qualified citizen who had completed a sixth-grade education.

May Day Observances Uneventful

WEST BERLIN MAY DAY RALLY—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, left, and West Berlin Mayor Willie Brandt wave to May Day crowds assembled for a rally in the divided city. It was Clay's last official appearance before terminating his assignment as President Kennedy's personal representative in West Berlin. An estimated 700,000 persons attended the rally only yards from the Communist East Berlin wall.

Minor Incidents In Hot Spots Reported

Leftist, snake-dancing students and police fought in Tokyo, and East and West battled each others' eardrums with loudspeakers across Berlin's Communist wall Tuesday in the annual observance of May Day.

Moscow's Red Square, for decades the center of the stage on the international labor day observed in nearly all industrial nations except the United States and Canada, was swept by heavy rain that dulled the usual glitter of the parade.

Millions in the Communist capitals of Red China, North Korea and North Viet Nam celebrated with rallies, speeches, athletic meets and outings.

Peiping radio said hundreds of thousands in the Red Chinese capital milled before huge portraits of Stalin, Marx, Engels, Lenin and Mao Tse-tung, beating drums, carrying flags and flowers and demanding the liberation of Formosa. Mao attended the climax of the celebration in Peiping when one-million persons gathered for a huge carnival and fireworks display.

Cuba And Argentina

In Cuba, the celebration began at midnight with explosions of fireworks. Factory whistles, ships' horns and loudspeakers raised a bedlam early in the morning to get out thousands of straw-hatted workers for a giant parade in Jose Marti Plaza. The demonstration before a giant dove of peace was nonmilitary.

Despite fears of trouble from resurgent Peronists, Argentina reported the quietest May Day in 40 years. The armed forces had called out planes and extra troops and police with rifles and sub-machine guns.

At Vatican City, where the Roman Catholic Church has called for observance on May 1 of the Feast of St. Joseph in honor of the carpenter of Nazareth, Pope John XXIII received 20,000 in an audience in St. Peter's Basilica. He reminded them that "life without work is insipid."

Oppose N-Tests

May Day in Tokyo started calmly in Meiji Park where 200,000 Japanese massed under the eyes of 16,000 police and heard Communist, socialist and labor union speeches containing fewer anti-American jibes than usual.

But a column of 3,000 left-wing Zengakuren students tired of the tame performance and began a dog-trot snake dance shouting, "Stop the nuclear tests!" About 50 persons were hurt when police tried to break up the snake dance.

From 6-million to 1,650,000 persons—depending on whether the figures of the organizers or of police were accepted—took part in hundreds of rallies throughout Japan.

Along Berlin Wall

The battle of the loudspeakers broke out along Berlin's wall when the Communists attempted to drown out Gen. Lucius D. Clay and other speakers at a rally of 700,000 West Berliners about 300 yards from the Red wall.

A battery of 30 West Berlin loudspeakers, mounted on six trucks, rolled up and began assailing East Berlin ears with the story of a Communist major who had defected. The Communists summoned noise reinforcements—four more trucks in addition to the seven already blasting away with six amplifiers each.

To make their speakers heard, Western technicians turned up the amplifiers at the rally.

Clay, making a farewell appearance after his months here as President Kennedy's personal envoy, drew cheers with assurances that the United States will keep its commitments in Berlin and that West Berliners had earned the title of free men.

Also speaking were West Berlin Mayor Willie Brandt and West German President Heinrich Lübke.

Across the Berlin wall, 8,000 East German troops showed off armored vehicles and rockets in a parade past the East German boss, Walter Ulbricht, and his ailing premier, Otto Grotewohl.

One speaker, Albert Norden, declared the Communist regime would not stand for West Berlin's communications to be under international control and again demanded that the occupation of West Berlin be terminated.

Western commandants, as they have done for seven years, protested the militaristic display in East Berlin as a violation of four-power occupation agreements.

East German commentators said the rockets—displayed for the first time—were the same kind that brought down Francis Gary Powers' U2 over Russia in 1960.

The display of military hardware in Moscow's Red Square parade contained nothing that observers noted as new and lasted only about 10 minutes.

Stress Agriculture

A huge banner calling for "A mighty upsurge in agriculture" dominated the decorations of the square instead of the usual aggressive slogans. The keynote speaker, Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky got in but a light stab at what he called the aggressiveness of the United States.

He said that was shown by President Kennedy's "statement to the effect the United States would not hesitate to start a preventive atomic war."

The White House has explained that readiness to use all available means to prevent the overrunning of Europe did not mean the United States was thinking of an aggression.

Queen Watches

For the first time, a member of European royalty viewed the Red Square spectacle. Belgium's 88-year-old Queen Mother Elisabeth, in Moscow for a music competition, was in the diplomatic stand.

Premier Khrushchev, as usual, held the center reviewing position from the top of Lenin's tomb as hundreds of thousands of workers trudged by.

OFF TO SCHOOL — Prince Charles, 13-year-old heir to the British throne, stands with his father, Prince Philip, before departing for his first term of boarding school at Gordonstoun, Scotland. The school is known for its bleak dormitories, cold showers and commando-like training. The young prince and his father flew from London to an airbase in Scotland near the school.

Britain Seeks To Strengthen Its Anti-Communist Alliance

LONDON (AP) — The Central Treaty Organization (CENTO) has decided to strengthen the economy of three of its members, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan, to combat Soviet penetration.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home announced the decision Tuesday night after the close of a two-day conference of the anti-Communist alliance. Britain is a partner in CENTO with the three nations. Secretary of State Dean Rusk attended the conference as an observer.

"At this meeting we paid a good deal of attention—and this is likely to be an increasing feature of our activities—to social and economic measures which would add to the stability of the countries in the area of the organization," Home told newsmen.

Assisted By U.S.

"There are a variety of projects in hand which are being assisted from the United States and the United Kingdom, and the purpose of these projects is to strengthen the economic base of the countries in the area of the organization," Home told newsmen.

Mathematics Answer

(Last answer to a series of mathematics problems submitted by the Monroe Teachers Association. The group will hold its annual county scholastic mathematics tournament at East Stroudsburg High School today).

SOLUTION TO YESTERDAY'S PROBLEM

Draw an arc of a circle to represent the ornamental window. Designate the chord by AB and the height as CD (D is the midpoint of the chord). Complete the arc to form a complete circle. Continue CD to meet the circle and label this point "E".

Therefore CDE is the diameter of the required circle. CE and AB are chords of the circle. Using the theorem: The product of the segments of one chord of a circle is equal to the product of the segments of the other, if the two chords intersect, we have: CD x DE equals AD x DB, 1 x DE equals 3 x 3.

Therefore: DE equals 9 and the diameter CDE equals 9 plus 1 or 10 ft.

Judge Davis' Out-Of-Town Work Dips

Record Harrisburg Bureau HARRISBURG — Monroe and Pike county judge Fred W. Davis did less visiting in other counties last year compared to 1960, the State Auditor General's Department reported today.

Judge Davis served 41 days in other county courts in 1961, a drop from the 50 days of out-of-county sitting in 1960.

The latest report shows that the judge collected $2050, or $50 per day, for the out-of-county assignments compared to $2500 the previous year.

He also received $453.41, or 10 cents per mile for traveling expenses compared to $565.46 in 1960. Judge Davis thus traveled 453.41 miles on out-of-county assignments last year compared to 565.46 miles in 1960.

The state-paid compensation for out-of-county judicial work and expenses is in addition to the annual salary of the local judge.

The State Supreme Court assigns judges to other courts in order to cut case backlogs or aid ailing jurists.

Judges inform the Supreme Court when they are available for such out-of-county assignments. Such availability usually indicates a relatively clear docket in their home counties.

PENNSYLVANIA GERMAN HOBBY HORSE (Polichrome). Early 19th Century. (Geesey Collection)

Art Of Seeing

By MARCIA CLAPP

HOW many people today take the time to make a charming toy for their children? How many toys made today could survive this test of time?

Here is a wonderful Hobby-horse made by some unknown craftsman who took time not only to make a charming toy but made it so securely that it is still strong and usable today.

The sound construction is evidenced by the carefully pegged legs, with wooden dowels which have withstood countless rockings. The wooden body, altho made from a single log, has been hewn to its simple but very functional shape. The amusing head has a jolly attitude and invites the young rider to come and take a ride.

The rockers have an artistic and rhythmic curve and the decoration of yellow emphasizes the shape. The little wooden platform for the feet has one lone Pa-

Dutch tulip painted in gray colors.

These early craftsmen were handy with wood making egg cups, salt boxes, spice boxes, hat boxes, as well as cabinets and furniture. These men worked slowly and thoroughly and once it was done, it did not have to be done over. Some of their favorite whittling were spoon holders and butter molds. Here they displayed their ability at carving symbolic designs and often added the name of the owner, carefully carved in neat script.

One of these early carvers was Nook Weis, an Inn keeper in Lehigh County. To amuse his sick child he carved with his jack knife a series of toys. Soon the walls of his Inn were covered with his carvings. He made a life-sized hunter and his spotted hound dog, and a covey of quail to complete the scene.

Pop Weis carved his own sleigh and hung carved Bible scenes on the walls of the Inn, all of which were decorated with gaudy colors. All this he did early in the morning before his Inn customers awakened . . . which is a suggestion for all of us who bemoan that we do not have the time to do things.

Schmidt Retires From PP&L

JACOB H. Schmidt, 1158 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg, retired yesterday after more than 37 years of service with Pennsylvania Power and Light Company.

Schmidt, a native of Lancaster, began his utility career as a groundhand at Stroudsburg. Retiring as a repairman's helper in PP&L's Lehigh division lines and substations department, he has also served as a substation operator.

Prior to joining PP&L, he was employed by the Stroudsburg Brewing Company.

A veteran of World War I, he is affiliated with American Legion Post No. 346 in East Stroudsburg and Woodmen of the World.

Schmidt is married to the former Almira Singer of Reeders. The couple are the parents of four sons.

Mt. Pocono 'Y' Boys Visit Depot

A group of nine boys from the Mt. Pocono YMCA visited the indoor target range at Tobyhanna Signal Depot recently as the guests of the 982nd Signal Battalion.

With Sergeant Major George H. McCollum, Sgt. Maj. of the battalion, acting as host, the boys fired small bore match rifles supplied by the depot. They were supervised by McCollum and Mr. Richard Lee, president of the Mt. Pocono "Y" chapter.

After completing the firing exercise, the boys, who ranged in age from 12 through 16, were given a tour of battalion headquarters by McCollum, then visited the depot snack bar for refreshments.

'Open House' Sunday At VA Hospital

JOHN B. McHugh, M.D., Hospital Director, announced yesterday that "OPEN HOUSE" at the Veterans Administration Hospital, Wilkes-Barre, will be observed on Sunday, May 6. Miss Margaret M. Ambury, Chief, Nursing Service, is Chairman of Activities.

Guided tours will be conducted throughout the hospital during National Hospital Week each year to give the public an opportunity to observe, first-hand, the facilities available for treatment of eligible veterans.

The public is invited to participate in a hospital tour which will be conducted on May 6 — beginning at 1 p.m. and concluding at 4 p.m. An opportunity will be offered to visit many areas of the hospital which normally are not open to the public. The tour will feature a special nursing display on the third floor; other displays by the various services will be in the lobby.

Children under 15 years of age are not permitted to tour the hospital.

Former Area Student Pastor Ordained In Iowa Service

NEWFOUNDLAND — The Service of Ordination was held on Sunday for the Rev. Arthur B. Campney, former local minister, at Calvary Methodist Church, Arnolds Park, Iowa, with the resident bishop of the Iowa area, F. Gerald Ensley, conferring the Order of Elder of the Methodist Church.

Assisting in the service were Dr. Harrison G. Dawes, superintendent of the Spencer District; Dr. Kenneth E. Metcalf, superintendent of Sioux City District; Dr. Merrill D. Summerbell, superintendent of Creston District; Dr. Charles S. Hempstead, superintendent of Cedar Rapids District; and sponsors the Rev. Donald H. Kooz, of Simpson College and Dr. Fred W. Ortmeier, of the Huntington Methodist Church.

Rev. Mr. Campney served the South Sterling Charge of the Wyoming Conference (LaAnna, South Sterling and Hemlock Grove Churches) from June, 1959, to June, 1961, as a student pastor while studying at Drew University, Madison, New Jersey.

Born in 1935, he was born in Havelock, Iowa, on Dec. 10, 1935, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Campney, of Burt, Iowa. He was graduated from Burt High School, and received his bachelor of arts degree from Simpson College, Indianola, and his bachelor of divinity degree from Drew University. He has done graduate work at Iowa State University.

He served as assistant pastor of the New Virginia Larger Parish; and of the Santiago Methodist Church, both in the South Iowa Conference, and the South Sterling parish.

He is married to the former Jo Anne Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Brown, 208 South 11th Street, Marshalltown, Iowa. They are the parents of two children, Benjamin, 3, and Rebecca, 1.

He is appointed at present to the Calvary Methodist Church, Arnolds Park, and the Fostoria Methodist Church, Fostoria, Iowa.

The action of members of the Keystone Shortway Association in obtaining a clear-cut pledge from Richardson Dilworth, one of the gubernatorial candidates, on his stand on the Shortway, is to be commended highly.

Early statements of the former mayor of Philadelphia were somewhat of a shock to residents of this section of the Commonwealth, who are vitally interested in an early completion of this important highway in the area. Later clarifying statements still did not clear the air completely.

However, Monday's meeting with Dilworth in Harrisburg and the obtaining of a concrete statement of his position has made his stand a matter of public record. It would be well to obtain similar assurances from any other leading contenders for office.

The people of this section of Pennsylvania must do all in their power to keep the Keystone Shortway uppermost in the minds of those who aspire to be our leaders. They must be reminded that we will not take second place in any consideration. They must be asked directly just what their stand is concerning the Shortway.

All through the present administration in Harrisburg, the Shortway has received pre-eminence it deserves, and work on its completion has progressed constantly because of this interest and co-operation. We must not let our guard down for a moment in the effort to assure that this needed facility will remain uppermost in the minds of those who may one day sit in the Governor's office—or in any other office, for that matter.

The battle is going well, but it may not be considered as being won until vehicles are traveling on the Keystone Shortway!

Opinions Of Other Editors

Why Of High Prices

Reading about the earnings and take home pay of some of the highest paid executives in American business, it struck us that there is one of the big reasons why things are high priced. Not because of the gross pay, but how much it must be for them to have a respectable take-home pay left. In other words, it is the government that must be paid so much, in fact, four times as much in two specific cases we ran across.

General Motors' two highest paid executives in 1961 were Frederick G. Donner, chairman of the board and chief executive officer, and John F. Gordon, president and chief operating officer. Donner's total earnings were $557,725 but his take home pay after taxes was $101,647. Gordon's total earnings were $503,700 and his take home pay after taxes, $96,785. From their total earnings of $1,061,425, the government took $862,993.

Donner and Gordon can probably get along on what was left them, but the point is that they and other high level executives in American industry have to be paid these high salaries, fees and bonuses to enable them to enjoy competence for their responsibilities. These payments have skyrocketed simply to pay the taxes. And it is the government that pushes prices up, by its tax take, whether it be from the minimum 20 per cent levy, or the maximum 92 per cent.

When pricing comes up again, it is well to remember who gets the lion's share of high personal earnings.

Methods Of Taxation

Representative George M. Rhodes wrote to a reader of this column as follows:

"The tax bill had my support because it would enable the Federal government to receive at least $600 million in tax revenues that escape the Treasury every year. The legislation imposes no new tax."

The method of collecting taxes is as important and can be as brutal as the tax itself. When the income tax was accepted by the American people, it was said that the tax would not become burdensome.

For most Americans, the tax takes about 20 percent of personal income. There are, of course, deductions which give some relief, but the burden is becoming unconscionable, particularly as there is a rise in prices due, in part, to excessive corporation taxes as well as many hidden taxes.

It must be taken for granted that in this time of war, the government must have enormous sums of money. Each dollar effort, each bomb testing, runs into millions of dollars. This burden must be carried by the American people until we are safe from conquest by Soviet Russia. Our first problem is national security.

On the other hand, the income tax is too violent a method for gathering funds for the government in a capitalist country. It destroys incentive. It leaves young people without hope. It encourages cheating. It drives surplus money out of the country.

The times require a radical approach to taxation to get the country moving. I have, for many years, recommended the transaction tax as a substitute for the personal income tax. Perhaps the transaction tax is not the best remedy, but a remedy must be found because both the personal income tax and the corporate income tax are too damaging to the morale of the country.

What is the moral basis of our economic system? It is that the individual labors to provide for himself and his family, to set aside an estate to support his old age and disabilities, to educate his children and to improve their status in the community and to leave something over for them when he dies.

All the social security devices have not succeeded in making the American people dependent upon government. Americans still want to earn their own way; want to build their own lives around a family; want to form the pattern of their own lives. This we might call the capitalist system, the free enterprise system, but a better term for it is the System of Free Individuals joined together in families and living by mutual respect and aid.

Whether Nixon or Kennedy was elected in 1960, these are the conditions which already existed and with which the new President had to deal. If John Doe or Richard Roe were elected, it would have been the same.

I am omitting the complicating factors of our foreign relations in this discussion but I cannot omit the organization of the Common Market, the shutting off of significant markets in the Soviet Union; the rapid recovery of West Germany and Japan; the continued disorder throughout the world because of Soviet Russia's insistence upon the permanent revolution and the emergence of the new African and Asiatic nations and the collapse of the European empires.

All of these complications had sharp effects upon the American economic system. The immediate problem that faced President Kennedy was whether to put on such controls as both Wilson and Roosevelt employed or to utilize the moral authority of the Presidential office to persuade the whole American people to co-operate to arrest all inflationary tendencies and to rescue the dollar.

Of the two methods, controls are the easier to implement but they produce a police state. President Kennedy rejected the expansion of government control. Younger generations do not remember what a plague controls can be; how horrible the very existence of natchniks — both some officials — can be.

The President apparently is going to employ moral suasion. The whole story of the steel situation comes down to a few simple postulates: management and the labor unions are free to assert themselves; but the government must protect the economy, to arrest inflation and to stabilize the dollar.

The Administration's formula is sound but sometimes such actions can be too swift and too angry. However, a new formula has appeared and it will continue to be employed. We all shout against inflation but when an action is taken, we object for other reasons.

The Pennsylvania Story

Truck Drivers' Side

By Mason Denison

(ED. NOTE: Last week in a series of two articles this column reviewed the so-called "Truck problem" as related to Pennsylvania's highways of today and those upcoming of tomorrow, noting that some lawmakers have vowed to sponsor legislation in the 1963 session to "curb" rough trucking practices on Pennsylvania's highways.

Since these two columns appeared throughout the state mail has been exceptionally heavy (mostly on the "pro" side incidentally) and trucking interests have replied. Ordinarily, because of obvious space limitations, this column does not publish letters. We are making an exception in this instance however because the following letter from trucker Kenneth H. Maderia, of Leesport, R.D. 1, near Reading, (a) comes from a "rank and file" trucker; (b) is written intelligently and with thought; and (c) is an honest expression of "the other side" of the trucking problem from that presented in this column last week. — MWD)

HARRISBURG — The other side!

"I thought you might be interested in a truck drivers viewpoint. I am thirty years old, married with three children and live and a half violation free years as operator of a tractor trailer. I operate the unit 60,000 miles per year from Reading, Pa. to New York City round trip.

"First I will agree that there are some morons on the road, however, I am sure they are in the minority. I feel the answer is not in legislation by law makers who are completely ignorant of the situation. It seems to me they are always restricting the operator of the vehicle and I feel this is not the answer.

"Now, on to the points you list. The two-lane dragger on hills: If the trucking companies would use the tractor only for the amount of weight they were manufactured for (expect for one point which I will discuss later) dragging on hills could be eliminated. In this state and most others we go by axle weight. As an example, I operate a truck that has a gross manufacturers rate with trailer of fifty thousand (50,000) pounds. If this unit was held to its manufacturer's limit it would flatten almost any normal grade but it is loaded to sixty thousand (60,000) pounds which is the legal weight and therefore it is slow on hills.

"This is not one isolated case. If you check you will find this to be true throughout the entire trucking industry. I would suggest legislation to limit all weight limits to manufacturers specifications. I know the trucking companies will scream bloody murder at this but then what is the 8 percent income tax cut supposed to be for? The trucking companies would be ahead in the long run because this heavier equipment will hold up much longer with less maintenance cost.

"Next, there should be no difference in the legal speed for passenger cars and trucks. Even a child can tell you you are going to have trouble when you have one type vehicle going ten to fifteen miles faster than another. This is the point I referred to previously. If you would release the truck and allow him the same limits as all other vehicles even those "under-engine" overweight units I am discussing could pull hills at a more rapid pace.

"Because of exceeding the manufacturers weight limits most units are still in 4th or 5th gear at 40 forty miles per hour. If these units are kept in shape they are just as safe as passenger cars at their speeds.

"Now, this brings up another point. The condition of some trucks is terrible. I don't see how they pass inspection. One example is to look at skid marks on the highway and you will be surprised at the many one-sided skid marks from one sided brakes on these units. Just the other day I was halted for a vehicle check; it was amusing, to say the least, to see a Trooper actually cupping his hands over the signals of the unit ahead of me to see if they were operating. What good were those signals if the Trooper had to cup his hands to see them? Why are these vehicles passed at inspection stations?

"I would recommend increasing the truck speed limit to coincide with passenger cars and enforcing the regulations. Such things as passing in tunnels and running side by side are committed by a small minority and shouldn't be tolerated.

However, it seems to me that many times I read about these incidents I also read about the violations previously committed by these same drivers. Why can't this type of driver be weeded out and lose his right on the road?

"As for the no truck passing zone, they are in my estimation a joke. I think it is time we realize that we must get the traffic on the road and on to its destination as quickly as we safely can. These no passing zones only add to the problem by keeping traffic on the road longer than necessary. No passing was tried in the heavily traveled route 22 from the Newark to Mountaintop area in New Jersey. It has been discontinued in favor of all traffic passing as these no passing zones impeded rather than accelerated traffic."

"When it is all over, Harris and Walton will sit down over a coke and coffee and plan their attacks for the next campaign. Their arguments never cease and pinpoint thoroughly the feasibility of the two-party political system.

The Allen-Scott Report

Congress Reluctant On Voting Alliance Funds

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — President Kennedy's hopes to persuade Congress to authorize $3 billion more for Alliance for Progress spending are getting nowhere.

At the most, he will be lucky if he winds up with more than $750 million.

For the current fiscal year, Congress voted $600 million for the Alliance for Progress. The President wants to increase this to $3 billion over a four-year period—a proposal, incidentally, about which little has been said publicly.

But from all backstage indications, there is little likelihood Congress will agree to that.

Legislators handling this measure, even some strongly pro-Administration, are evincing marked reluctance to approve foreign aid spending of this magnitude over such a long period. They favor more Alliance for Progress money, but strictly on a year-to-year basis.

They are insisting it is sounder and safer to require the President to submit an annual budget for detailed congressional scrutiny and questioning.

This significant behind-the-scenes attitude was pointedly voiced at a House Foreign Affairs Committee meeting with two key Alliance for Progress officials—Coordinator Teodoro Moscoso, and Richard Goodwin, young Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for Latin American Affairs.

Both were subjected to blunt grilling by Democrats and Republicans—not so much against the Alliance for Progress program, but the President's proposal to spend $3 billion over a four-year period.

The President has a long and difficult row to hoe on this little-publicized issue.

The battle over his ambitious authorization plan is only the opening round. Regardless of what Congress finally decides on the amount of funds to be authorized for the Alliance, he will have to wage another equally tough struggle over the actual appropriation, with the odds against his getting as much as is authorized.

That is the usual practice—especially in the economy-minded House Appropriations Committee, where this legislation has to originate.

On A Hot Grill—Coordinator

Moscoso, who is also Latin American administrator of the over-all foreign aid agency, defended the $3 billion-four-year plan on the ground it is necessary to "encourage long-range projects and long-term development."

"When countries obtain such commitments," he told the House Foreign Affairs committee, "they will understand that Congress, as well as the President, is supporting the long-term development of Latin America. This is of the utmost importance in ensuring the success of the Alliance for Progress."

"If Congress authorizes funds only on a year-to-year basis," said Representative Thomas Morgan, D-Pa., chairman "would that have adverse psychological effect in Latin America?"

"Definitely," replied Moscoso. "I am strongly convinced that would slow down the program. If we make long-range commitments, I believe these countries will really get on the job and work much harder and faster to effect the vital changes necessary reforms."

"But don't you think Congress should also have the power to withhold authorization and funds until it knows more about this program and what changes these countries will undertake?" asked Representative Walter Judd, R-Minn. "Why should we turn over to the executive branch unlimited authority to give or to withhold public funds? It's the Congress that takes the money from the people."

"We are the people who are administering this program," argued Moscoso. "It's up to us to make it work, and if we don't have the tools, we can't do the job."

What About The Grabbers—Representative Edna Kelly, D-N.Y., raised the thorny issue of concentration of U.S. business and other holdings in Latin America.

"Do you think we should give aid to governments that have seized or plan to grab American property or don't pay their honest debts?" she demanded. "How do you feel about that?"

"As you know," replied Moscoso, "there is a section in the foreign aid law which provides that assistance shall be withheld in the event a country does not meet its debt to U.S. citizens."

"Yes," he halted aid to Haiti until it paid debts owed to U.S. businessmen," said Moscoso.

"What about Brazil and Argentina?" continued Mrs. Kelly. "There is plenty of trouble in those countries as far as expropriation of U.S. holdings and not paying for them. So far as I know, nothing has been done about that."

"I will look into it," promised Moscoso, "this has not been brought to my attention."

Representative Omar Burleson, D-Tex., wanted to know what is being done about the Latin American countries that balked at the Punta del Este conference at outlawing Cuba.

"Are we going to give those nations aid," demanded Burleson. "I'm talking specifically about Mexico, Brazil and Argentina."

"All of them will benefit from the Alliance program," said Moscoso. "The reason is that they all supported the resolution declaring Communism is incompatible with the American system. We do not feel these countries favor Castroism."

Representative Judd asked Deputy Assistant Secretary of State Goodwin about persistent reports of the flight of capital from Latin America.

"Can you tell us how much truth there is to these reports?" asked Judd. "According to them, Latin American capital is being withdrawn and invested in Europe and other places while we are pouring hundreds of millions into Latin America to develop it."

"There have been estimates that $8 billion of Latin American capital has been withdrawn since 1959," admitted Goodwin. "That is a very conjectural figure. There is no question considerable money has been pulled out of Latin America and invested elsewhere. But we have not been able to determine the exact amount, although it is undoubtedly quite a lot."

"In that event," asserted Representative E. Ross Adair, R-Ind., "are we going to pour money into Latin America through the top only to see it siphoned off at the bottom by native financial interests?"

"Alliance for Progress funds are not siphoned off," contended Goodwin, "because most of this money is for specific projects and programs. Of course, if the owner of a factory makes money and sends it to Switzerland that is a different story."

"Why is capital leaving Latin America?" continued Adair.

"It is a complicated matter," replied Goodwin, "but the chief reason is fear there will be other Castros. We are trying to combat that fear by developing political stability and economic security in these countries. It is not an easy job, but it is an inescapable one if we are to prevent Castroism and all its evils."

Inside You And Yours

Healthy Sickness

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

How can Baby be so playful with his temperature zooming to 105 degrees every afternoon?

He could have roseola in subitum and baby measles, tantum—also called exanthem subitum and baby measles. Roseola strikes mainly the diaper set, especially during spring and fall.

Almost everyone catches roseola during the first few years. After that you're immune.

A week or two after Baby catches the virus, his temperature suddenly skyrockets—sometimes high enough to trigger convulsions. But he still wants his rattle and blocks.

Only Mom is all in a sweat! A mild red throat and slightly stuffed nose can hardly account for his high fever. And so the doctor may suggest roseola.

Time Tells

No one can be certain what it is until the 4th or 5th day. Then the fever suddenly breaks and pink blotches break out on his trunk, arms and neck. Face and legs stay almost rash-free.

Within a day the blotches fade, leaving no trace of roseola. Unlike roseola, the measles rash breaks out at the height of feverish misery. And German measles rarely sends the mercury over 101 degrees or 102 degrees.

Give aspirin every 4 to 6 hours for fever over 101 degrees —14, grains (1/4 of an adult aspirin) for 1-year-olds; twice the dose for 2-year-olds.

What To Do

When fever rages over 103 degrees sandwich Baby between a dry towel and one soaked in a solution of half alcohol, half lukewarm water. Cover the wet towel with a dry one.

As the solution evaporates, it cools Baby's skin. Rub his arms and legs briskly to bring more hot blood to the cooling surface. Even though his skin feels cool, his inner temperature won't drop for at least 20 minutes.

Keep a nearby window open. Otherwise, Baby may inhale evaporating alcohol. When he cools, you want him to be able to toddle a straight line!

10 Years Ago

A truck owned by Friedman's Express, Wilkes-Barre, ran off the road at "Dead Man's Curve" on Route 209 and overturned. Damage was estimated at $8,500. The driver escaped without a scratch.

A strike of construction engineers at the Delaware Water Gap toll bridge left 45 men idle. The men were seeking a wage increase.

Monroe County District Attorney Elmer Christine was the guest speaker at the Chemical Company, Stroudsburg Fire Department, banquet. The dinner was to honor its living charter members.

Stroudsburg High lost to Palmerton High 2-1. Red Fetherman was the losing pitcher. His record for the season was 1 win and 3 losses.

20 Years Ago

Students in Tannersville and Stroudsburg High Schools were given tuberculin tests.

Additional fires in Pike County resulted in calling out more men and equipment. District Forester E. C. Pyle, and all men fighting the fire were praying for rain.

Residents of Ross Township turned in much old junk to the recent scrap metal drive in the area.

Jack Blackburn was buried in a $5,000 casket and flowers on the grave were taken to the cemetery in 15 different cars, each car being full of flowers.

Blood Donors To Aid Townsman

TAMAQUA, Pa. (AP) — A bus carrying 29 area blood donors is to leave here Wednesday night for a trip to Philadelphia. Each is to donate a pint for an operation intended to give John Kriner a chance at a normal life span.

Kriner, 22, of Tamaqua R. D. 2, is in Lankenau Hospital where an open heart operation is scheduled for Thursday to repair a defect. Without the operation, Kriner reportedly could expect to live less than 10 years.

Medical factors require that the blood be given shortly before the operation. Thus the 29, all of whom have a positive type blood, will leave about 6 p.m. for the 90 mile trip.

All answered an appeal from the Tamaqua area blood donor service. Two are from Mahanoy City and another from Shenandoah. In case some can't make it, 20 others have volunteered.

The Tamaqua Lions Club is sponsoring the trip.

Col. Setliffe To Continue As Engineer

COL. Truman H. Setliffe, District Engineer of Philadelphia District since July, 1959, who had been scheduled to depart Philadelphia in June for duty in Korea, will continue as Philadelphia District Engineer.

Setliffe helped survey the Delaware River Basin, including Tocks Island.

Col. Roy S. Kelley, the Director of Personnel in the Office of the Chief of Engineers, Washington, D.C., who had been scheduled to become District Engineer in Philadelphia, will be assigned to another post.

Grenadiers Meet Tonight

THE regular monthly meeting of the Keystone Grenadiers will be held tonight at 7 o'clock instead of 7:30 at the V.F.W. Home, Stroudsburg.

All members are urged to be present. A special speaker will be presented.

First Sergeant Ted Stevens said there are several openings available in the drum and bagle sections of the Corps.

Anyone interested in joining the corps should contact Stevens at the meeting.

The Corps is open to any young man in Monroe County or vicinity.

Council also:

Directed Cramer to advertise for bids for a one-half ton pick-up truck and to advertise for sale the land known as Crestview Heights in the E. Broad St. area.

Named Delegates

Named Councilmen William Schallman and Kenneth Wiley as delegates to the borough association convention on June 24-27 and confirmed appointment of Wiley as Civil Defense designated shelter official for the borough.

Authorized payment of $500 to William B. Henry, administrator of the estate of Anna E.H. Smith, for land adjoining the borough playground, for which the public property committee had been negotiating for about a year.

Referred to Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess a request from Kenneth Alspach for extension of a water main approximately 330 feet in an easterly direction from the Crestview Heights development.

New Church Members To Be Honored

NEW members of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church will be honored at a reception tonight at 6:30 p.m.

The informal dinner is an annual feature of the family night supper under the auspices of the Women's Society of Christian Service, Mrs. Franklin Tolman, president.

Circles Three and Seven will be in charge of the dinner. Mrs. Newton Taylor, Jr. is leader of Circle Three and Mrs. Margaret Fisher, Circle Seven.

Older member families will bring covered dishes.

Following the dinner, Madalyn Maloney will present the dramatic reading, "The Scarlet Lily".

Mrs. Jerrold Fritz, soprano soloist, and Robert Currier, minister of music, will provide musical settings for the reading.

Martin Raps GOP Candidates

HARRISBURG (AP) — Park H. Martin, state highways secretary, said Tuesday Republican candidates for governor are showing "their usual lack of knowledge" about road construction and federal financing.

Replying to what he called a "political statement" by J. Collins McSparan, independent GOP candidate, Martin said:

"McSparan should know that the Department of Highways can move ahead on federal aid highways only as fast as the federal aid financing through the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads permits." McSparan has said that road projects are controlled by the administration of Gov. Lawrence to influence votes.

Martin suggested that both McSparan and William W. Scranton, GOP organization candidate for governor, familiarize themselves with federal highway regulations so as not to make "irresponsible statements."

Allentown Crash Fatal To Worker

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — James A. Jones, Mahanoy City, was killed Tuesday when the station wagon in which he was riding collided with a big tractor trailer. He was en route to work at the Bethlehem Steel Co. plant in Bethlehem. Two others in the vehicle were hurt. The truck driver, Robert Cook, 33, Danville, was uninjured.

Employment Gains Noted In Vicinity

REPORTS from 60 employers in the Monroe-Pike County area indicate total employment declined by an estimated 100 workers during the two months ending March 15. Most of the losses were in the Retail and Resort industries.

However, compared with March 1961 total area employment showed a substantial increase of over 700.

Chief gains over the 1961 figure were in Government, Manufacturing and Construction. These three industries offset losses in Retail Trade and Resort employment, due to the late Easter season.

Resort hotels, particularly those catering to honeymooners, showed fewer employees because of the late Lenten season. Chief gains in manufacturing were in nondurable goods with apparel the major contributor. Female employment rose by an estimated 300 over March 1961. Total area employment in the 60 reporting firms as of March 15, 1962 was 8,818. Of these, 2,794 were female workers.

Supply Adequate

Generally, it was estimated, the labor supply will be adequate to meet demand over the next two months. Presently there are some clerical shortages and in the skilled and semiskilled fields in manufacturing industries.

Other shortages will develop in the skilled construction fields and for experienced resort workers for employment beginning in May and continuing until October. However, many resorts which formerly opened on Memorial Day have delayed this year's opening until mid-June because the Memorial Day holiday falls during mid-week.

Resort and camp operators are relying more and more upon the local Pennsylvania State Employment Service office to supply labor needs during the busy season. Each year greater numbers of qualified summer workers are recruited and referred to employers. The same applies to non-resort employers.

Employers in need of workers are urged to immediately telephone the local office. Every effort is made to provide prompt and efficient service. The local office staff has been augmented in order to meet the area's expanding employment needs and service resort employers during the summer season.

Job Guide

Approximately 458 high school seniors are expected to graduate from area schools this year. 51 percent will continue toward higher education. Most of the remaining 49 percent will enter the local labor market. To provide a measure of assistance to graduates a Labor Market Job Guide is in progress. The Job Guide will provide information and timely tips to those about to enter the labor market.

Many of this year's high school graduating classes have already been interviewed and tested for aptitudes. Employers who wish to employ some of these young people may obtain selection by getting in contact with this office.

Soil Group's Banquet Set Tomorrow

THE annual Monroe County Soil Conservation District banquet will be held Thursday in Bartonsville Hotel at 7 p.m.

Walter Sebring, Monroe County assistant superintendent of schools, will act as master of ceremonies.

Guest speaker will be Ivan McKeever, Pennsylvania State conservationist.

Assessors Launch Association Here

CHIEF ASSESSORS and their deputies from seven northeastern Pennsylvania counties held a luncheon meeting at the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg, yesterday for the dual purpose of forming an association of counties and a discussion of mutual assessment problems.

Elected as officers of the new organization were Thomas E. Reid, chief assessor, Lehigh County, president; George K. Brands Sr., chief assessor, Monroe County, vice president; and Mrs. Catherine E. Taylor, deputy assessor, Susquehanna County, secretary-treasurer. All of the new officers were unanimously elected.

The formal organization was instigated after a recommendation by William S. Olexy, chief assessor, Carbon County, and is designed to provide cohesion of assessment policies in the area represented, coordination with state organization activities, and concerted action in assessment matters.

Meetings will be held in one of the seven counties represented—Monroe, Pike, Wayne, Carbon, Lehigh, Susquehanna and Northampton—every second month, the first official gathering to be held in the Lehigh County Court House at a date to be designated in July.

Commissioners Hosts

The Monroe County Commissioners were hosts at yesterday's organization meeting, which was conducted by Monroe Assessor George Brands. Commissioner John Lesoine welcomed the guests, and Commissioners Stanley Rader and Willard Quick concurred in the greeting. Also present was Monroe Solicitor Leo Achterman.

Present at the session other than those already listed were: James Wheaton and Herbert M. Mellich, Susquehanna County; Paul A. LaBar and James E. Pittinger, Northampton County; John Hellmus, Wayne County; Andrew Lewis, Thomas Coleman and George Goehring, Pike County; James W. Szazona, Carbon County, and Franklin C. Weaver, Lehigh County.

Following the organization meeting, the assessment officials held a discussion session lasting several hours, at which time various problems which had been encountered in their jobs were considered.

Assessment values on mobile homes were discussed at length. Members compared systems of assessment in use and those to be applied in 1963.

Topics for the July meeting were assigned to various members. There will be further discussion on mobile homes, plus exempt properties and special land values.

Family Gifts Unit To Give First Report

THE Timbretones, featuring Bruce Frantz, Ralph Wesner, Russell Speicher and George Sebring, will highlight the special entertainment tonight at the first report meeting of the Family Gifts Division of the Monroe County General Hospital Expansion Program.

The meeting will begin with dinner at 7 p.m. at East Stroudsburg State College dining room. Chairman of the division, Robert Davenport, urges all teams to be present and give at least a partial report.

The goal for the division is $47,500.

Last Wednesday more than 250 volunteers in this division began a house to house canvass of Monroe County.

Program chairman is Robert Kranendonk. The Timbretones, a barbershop quartet, will present several selections.

Arlington W. Williams, general chairman of the Program, urges all team captains in Pattern, Special, Business, Industry, Government and Schools to complete their visits promptly so that all reports will be complete for the Victory Dinner scheduled for Friday night, May 11, also at the State College dining room.

Cleanup Brigade Lauded

MORE than 125 of the 249 Pocono Clean-Up Brigade were honored by the "City Fathers" of Ocean County, N. J., last night at the Acme Hose Recreation Center, Day St., East Stroudsburg.

Frank Parker, Civil Defense director and acting mayor of Long Beach Island; Frank Klein, president of the Long Beach Board of Trade, and Jack Lamping, publicity director for Ocean County individually expressed gratitude to the volunteers.

The Pocono Clean-Up Brigade last month traveled to the Jersey Shore and cleared 780 tons of debris left by March storms.

Stroudsburg Mayor, Joseph H. Small, presented the visiting trio with "Keys to the Borough"; each was given a personally engraved Ronson lighter. Mayor Thomas Kistler, East Stroudsburg also expressed his gratitude.

Mrs. Alma Nichols, originator of the idea was introduced to the assembly. Joseph Whelan, WVPO program director and coordinator of the project, acted as master of ceremonies.

During the festivities, everyone paused for a moment of silent tribute in memory of Elmer Adams, a member of the brigade, who died, following a heart attack, in Toms River Memorial Hospital, April 18.

The visitors from New Jersey treated the volunteers to refreshments.

Just Between Us — —

—By Bobby Westbrook

The weather was not ideal for tripping around playing Queen of the May, yesterday, but the village of Milford was invaded by what must have looked like an army of giddy gals who thought they were — complete with flowers in their hair and dragging their grass skirts behind them.

Actually, it was the guest luau of the Wahines of the Poconos — which doesn't make any more sense than the first surmise without a lot of explanations. Suffice it to say that they presented a program of Hawaiian dances for their guests before they fed them.

Included in the program were ancient dances, popular dances, and comical — and one ancient that turned out to be the most comical of all, although it was planned that way. The double bamboos are used in a dance in which the dancers are seated, beating out the intricate story, rising to their knees as they "climb the mountain". It is done sober-faced and required deep concentration.

Usually, that is — and this time it started that way, until one of the front row dancers rose to her knees to beat her way up the mountain while her grass skirt stayed on the floor around her. There she was in what the members call her "Girl Scout pants" — because they're the color of the uniforms.

Quite unconscious of her plight, she thought the laughter roaring up from the audience was because of some less adept bamboo-behind her, until the narrator made her precarious way among the clashing bamboos and tied the skirt on again — and all the while nobody missed a beat, although it was the first time they ever did that number with tears of laughter running down their cheeks.

It was the same gal who earlier in the day had gone scampering around in the damp dew picking violets for the punch; so just think who had lots of violets and the energy to pick them and you'll have her, though I promised Scout's honor, not to reveal the name.

It's always easy to wax humorous about the Wahines, but there is one serious aspect they don't talk much about — and that is the welfare work to which they contribute a fee at each of their practice sessions. But one mystery was solved for sure. Maybe nobody knows what Scotchmen wear under their kilts, but at least 40 people know what the Pocono Wahines wear under their grass skirts.

Y Mothers Plan Rummage, Get-Together

Members of the YMCA Mothers Club joined members of MORA and of the Leisure Hour Club in a trip to Hershey today to visit the tulip gardens and chocolate factory.

At their April meeting, they also planned the details of the semi-annual rummage sale to be held this Friday and Saturday in the store room at Fifth and Main Sts., Stroudsburg. Anyone who can not deliver donations to the store room may call the Y to arrange for pick-up.

The Mothers Club also planned a get-together for grade school pupils and parents for May 18, at 7:30 at the Y. A small admission will be charged to cover the cost of refreshments and prizes. Any money above expenses will be used toward the purchase of a record player for the Y.

Members present were the hostesses Lib Bolch and Betty Yost, and Clara DeVivo, Rose Schoch, Mary Katz and Alice Baujan.

Smithfield Alumni Report On World Of Junior High To Sixth-Graders

Four junior high school students, alumni of Smithfield School returned to give the benefit of their experience to the graduating sixth graders at the Parent-Teachers Assn. meeting on Monday night.

The transition from grade school to junior high school involves more than just more classes in more advanced subjects under more teachers, the students pointed out. They were Linda Marsh, Debby Stann, Ricky Leaman and Craig Scott.

They explained about lockers and periods for classes and study, and the time element which allows ten minutes to change for gym, and three minutes to change classes.

They also explained about the 35-cent balanced lunch in the cafeteria and the fact that students were allowed 27 minutes to get it, eat it, and clean up afterward.

They described the place of the Student Council, and the fact that last year they had adopted a Japanese child through the money the council raised. Among the special events they listed the fashion shows and small dinners in the home economics department, about learning to use tools and make things in the Shop classes for boys; about the band and the Junior High Chorus; assemblies and the County Math Contest and March Science Fair.

Theodore Miller, principal of the East Stroudsburg Junior High School, supplemented the report of the students by listing the subjects of Geography, history, reading, shop or home economics, art, music, chorus and health education.

In Junior high school where 32 of the 35 periods a week are occupied, it is necessary for students to do home work, he said.

Report cards are issued every six weeks, and there is a branch of the National Junior Honor Society for those who maintain high scholarship and high standards in citizenship and activities.

All sixth graders who will attend East Stroudsburg Junior High School next year will be invited to visit the school where they will be escorted by seventh graders to acustom them to the buildings and the routine. They will also be shown, in their own schools, pictures of the Junior High in action before the end of the present school year.

He recommended that all children obtain their gymnasium equipment well in advance of the opening of school from the three stores which carry it in East Stroudsburg. Girls will need an official tank suit, bathing cap, white bobby sox socks, white sneakers and a blue gym suit. Boys are required to have boxer shorts, t-shirt, tank suit, sweat socks, and sneakers.

Miller also pointed out that in high school, students no longer wear dungarees, t-shirts, or heavy leather boots. While jackets and ties for boys are not necessary, good and appropriate appearance is stressed as an aid to good behavior.

Since their book load is heavy, he also advised a book bag.

Walter Melnikoff, president of the Monroe County Council of PTA, urged Smithfield to send a delegation to the State PTA convention at Williamsport in October to carry on the fight for representation for the 600,000 state members of the PTA in Harrisburg and Washington.

Mrs. Joseph Lyons presided at the business meeting. Officers will be elected at the meeting on May 14 at 7:30. A special program by the school children will feature a French sketch, a program by the school chorus, fluteophone ensemble and band.

With 31 members of the sixth grade present, the attendance was 77. They won the attendance award, and helped decide to do away with the cake and punch usually served by the hospitality committee at the PTA meetings.

Mrs. Alma Nichols reported that she has books on sex education for parents who wish to have them. They may call her at HA 1-843. After June 1, the books will be returned to the Monroe County Library where they may be obtained upon request.

Local WSCS Is Host To District

The women of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church played host to the annual meeting of the North District Women's Societies of Christian Service with 225 present to stress aspects of the theme "The Church in the World".

Mrs. James S. Douglass, conference president, and Mrs. Franklin Tolman, local president welcomed the group.

In her report of "Hands in His Service", Mrs. Douglass announced that 76 churches of the district had contributed $5,686 worth of clothing and supplies at the Ingathering. Some 6,000 women in the North District cooperated in the service.

Mrs. Louis Johnson, East Stroudsburg and Dr. Price Collins, district superintendents, spoke. Mrs. Frank Laise was soloist with Mrs. Robert Currier as organist.

Mrs. Marion Harris urged women to attend the School of Missions to be held at Albright College July 8-13. Mrs. Walter Rinsland reported for the nominating committee and the officers were elected as follows:

Mrs. James S. Douglass, president; Mrs. Francis L. Markley, vice president; Mrs. Raymond S. Eckbold, recording secretary; Mrs. Walter Rinsland, treasurer.

Secretaries of the various fields of interest elected included Mrs. Albert Moser, Mrs. Harold W. Abel, Mrs. Joseph Nimerfroth, Mrs. Marion Harris, Mrs. William Sharp, Mrs. Everett Johnson, Mrs. Ralston Hedrick, Mrs. Edward Born, Mrs. Emil Bishop, Miss Ella Clark, Miss Marguerite Samuels and Mrs. Charles Chafee.

They were installed in an impressive ceremony by Mrs. George Burley.

Love gifts from the World Banks were dedicated in a special ceremony.

Rev. C. Lyle Thomas, pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church,

Mrs. Wright Re-elected WSCS Head

Mount Pocono — Mrs. William Wright was elected for her second term as president of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Mount Pocono Methodist Church at their April meeting. Other officers elected were: Mrs. Alvin MacWilliams, vice president; Mrs. John Grose, secretary; Mrs. Charles Whitlow, promotional secretary; and Mrs. Carroll Amos, treasurer.

They will be installed at the May meeting. Mrs. Gertrude McCarthy led the devotions and Miss Winifred Hay spoke on "church and Youth".

It was announced that Mrs. McCarthy and Mrs. David Kohn plan to attend the May fellowship luncheon of United Church Women on May 4 at 1 at Sunnybrook camp. Mrs. Wright will attend the annual WSCS Conference in Philadelphia on June 5.

July 7 was chosen for the annual bazaar and dinner.

The WSCS voted to send cash to the annual bazaar to be held at the Cornwall Methodist Home. Members were invited to attend a dinner at the Home for the Aged in Philadelphia on May 19. Mrs. Earl Dennis will take care of altar flowers for May.

Letters of thanks were read from Ester Hall, Philadelphia for donations and clothing sent in the recent Ingathering.

Refreshments were served to the 20 members present by Mrs. Nellie Sharrbaugh, Mrs. Dorothea Schroeder, Miss Helen Saleeba and Mrs. C. Renchler.

Bethlehem, was the guest speaker taking as his theme "Love of the Master".

May Fellowship Luncheon For County Church Women

Theme of the May Fellowship Luncheon of the Monroe County Council of Churchwomen on Friday will be "One Family Under God" with Mrs. Louis Johnson, the former Barbara Hartman who served several years as missionary in the Congo, as guest speaker.

The service will be preceded with a luncheon at Sunnybrook Camp at 8 p. m. Mrs. Hugh Altomose and Mrs. Fred Quig will be in charge of registration and Mrs. Henry Kulp is chairman of luncheon tickets. Advance reservations may be made with Mrs. Pearl Woodward, HA 1-5812. Mrs. Frank Tolman is chairman of table arrangements.

The meeting will be held at the Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church with the program arranged by Mrs. Wendell Wicks and Mrs. Mahlon Hallett.

A song service under the direction of Mrs. Wesley Crowthers will be held at 2:15 with the devotional service and speaker at 2:30. Mrs. William Petecovic will be the organist.

Ushers will be Mrs. William Horst, Mrs. Walter Schlough, Mrs. Albert Sommers and Mrs. Jesse Flory.

At the luncheon Mrs. Elton Denning and Mrs. John Dunkelberger are in charge of tables; Mrs. Evangeline Henry, Mrs. Elson Smith, Mrs. Henry Peters, Mrs. Edgar Van Why, Mrs. Elmer Christine and Mrs. Alphonse Meyers are hostesses at the luncheon and Mrs. Nathan Meyer will give the invocation.

ESHS Alumna Has Part In College Play

Mount Bethel — Miss Mary Carol Sayer, a sophomore at Gettysburg College, has returned to classes after spending the spring vacation with her parents in Mount Bethel. Miss Sayer is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High School.

While at East Stroudsburg she had a supporting role in "George Washington Slept Here" and has continued her interest in dramatics, appearing in "Guys and Dolls" in her freshman year and in "She Stoops to Conquer" and "South Pacific" earlier this year.

Her first starring role came with the performance of two plays by the Owl and Nightingale Players: "Trapp's Last Tape" by Beckett; and Inescapable "The Chairs". Miss Sayer played the role of the old woman in "The Chairs".

Samuel Getz Master Of Valley Grange

Stormsville. The charter of the Cherry Valley Grange was draped in memory of its late master, Harold Dennis, and of Pearl Williams at the April meeting in the Grange Hall.

State Deputy Master Alvin Blitz and State Juvenile Master Gladys Blitz installed the new officers: Samuel Getz, Sr., master; Mrs. Margaret Getz, lecturer; Ernest Bittenbender, steward; Mrs. Bernita Bittenbender, chaplain.

A reading "Just a Step Away" was given by Mrs. Getz. The Greeley Grange will visit Cherry Valley Grange on May 8 for a visitation program. The Pomona Grange will meet at Cherry Valley Grange on Saturday, May 19.

A covered dish supper followed the meeting.

Ever serve hot meaty freshly-boiled potatoes with a topping of sour cream and chopped chives?

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Every once in awhile, Mr. Wyckoff who is, I think, a wanderer at heart, will succumb to an attack of wanderlust and whisk a few friends off to far places, or maybe take the entire Tea Room or Office staff out to dinner. The other evening, he packed all of the second and third floor office personnel (myself included) into the store bus and we headed for Scranton... first to dine at The Castle restaurant in North Scranton, and then, to attend Cinerama. The few, such as Dottie Dunn, our store switchboard operator, who could not leave at 5, left with Manager J. L. Kerlin and Mrs. Kerlin, in his private car at 5:30.

Papa loves driving the bus, I believe... he probably enjoys all the chattering voices in the background; the songs that always begin with the traditional, "Happy On the Way" and end with "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and the fact that driving a school bus has one element of danger already removed. "EVERYONE stops for a school bus." Papa will chuckle as he notes the deference shown him by other drivers. I'm not sure what others on the road think when they see his bus laden with "students" of our vintage. They must think either that we're awfully slow learning or that it's about time we stop getting educated and start finding jobs. At any rate, it's amusing to see the contemplative expressions on strange faces.

Our dinner at The Castle was elegant and the surroundings charming. As we drove into the parking lot, we were impressed by the distant columns of smoldering ash, so typical of our coal-producing cities. But as we left the restaurant darkness had fallen, and in the dimness the outline was that of a miniature Delaware Water Gap... two mountains, almost touching, while overheard an airplane headed for the airport, flashing its signal lights.

The Castle is noted for an excellent fruit cup and unusually fine salads, we were told, and when we walked into the private dining hall we were greeted with mounds of fresh fruits temptingly arranged upon ice-filled ruby and crystal compotes. Had I had one more fruit cup and one more bowl of salad, I could very well have done without all the other food, they were that good! The salad was of tossed vegetables, but none of us could determine just what was included in the dressing—a bit of cheese, some celery salt, no doubt... but what else? It was tasty enough to serve as a dip with potato chips or Fritos, and was the highlight of my dinner despite my love for chicken and dressing, and all those delicacies that go with them.

At The Strand we saw "Cinerama Holiday" which is the third of the Cinerama movies. Since many of you do not know, perhaps, what Cinerama is, I feel justified in urging you to attend. Do see for yourselves what a terrifically exciting experience it is! The very nice gentleman who operates the projectors showed us the three machines that project the contents of their reels (each weighing 50 pounds) upon a 50 foot wide, semi-circular screen. The machine at the left projects to the right; the machine at right projects upon the left; center projects center... and all must be synchronized every second. When they are, you, the audience, are suddenly part of the action you are watching, for the filming has been synchronized also, and has managed to catch everything the eye can see when rolled to either side or facing front.

In "Cinerama Holiday" you do not just see many of the wonders of Europe and America, you are part of them... you actually go hurtling down a toboggan slide; soaring down the Alps on skis; floating through the air by jet. You come down with your jet upon a Navy carrier at sea... you drift down into the ravines between mountains... you literally sit at the feet of the stars in an ice show. Some of our girls actually began to feel a bit airsick... and believe it or not, when I was skiing, my feet were cold!

If you have not yet enjoyed Cinerama (and please don't confuse it with Cinemascope or Todd-A-O, or other words that simply indicate use of an extra wide screen) you are missing a real thrill: an inexpensive vacation for the family. Tickets are 1.25 week nights (one show at 8:30) and 1.50 Saturdays and Sundays. Ask your Travel Bureau for further information, and enjoy a tremendous evening at Scranton's Cinerama theatre.

Dear Abby

He Must Be An Ostrich!

Dear Abby: As a disinterested third party, your advice is needed. My brother's wife is running around and everyone in our little town knows it but him. She uses all sorts of lame excuses to get out of the house "for an hour" and comes in at midnight with more lies. My brother works 12 hours a day trying to provide for her and their three children. She sleeps till noon and lets the children fend for themselves. The house is a mess. She dresses like a street-walker and her children look like war orphans. Would you advise me to give her enough rope to hang herself? Or should I tell my brother? We are decent people and everyone is talking.

Dear "G": It would be pretty hard for a man not to be aware that his wife dresses like a "street-walker" and his children look like "war orphans." If your brother really is having the wool pulled over his eyes—don't be sheepish. Tell him!

Dear Abby: You said, "Just because there's chrome on the dome doesn't mean there is no power under the hood." Will you please tell me how YOU know?

Dear I: Some of my best friends are mechanics.

Dear Abby: If a baby-sitter is asked to come to sit from 7:00 p.m., until midnight, what do you think about this situation? I arrived promptly at seven. The parents were nowhere near ready to leave the house. At eight, they left, saying, "Well that's one hour less of your time—sorry." They came back at a quarter to one—exactly 45 minutes later than they promised—saying, "Sorry we're a few minutes late, ha ha." Then I got paid for four hours. What would you do?

OVERWORKED AND UNDERPAID

Dear O. And U.: I would tell them they owed me for five hours and 45 minutes and no "ha ha" about it.

Dear Abby: I am in love with a nice fellow and he has asked me to marry him. I would like to have a big church wedding and wear a white gown and veil, and have a large reception. I had a child. A few in the family know about it. Should I tell my future husband about it? I gave the baby up for adoption. I was only 15 at the time and I am 19 now.

SECRET KEPT

Dear Secret: Do not make a mockery of a large wedding with a gown and veil. And by all means, TELL your future husband.

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Wednesday, May 2, 1962

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Not all favorable. Don't sit moodily or idly waiting for a better omen. Always fresh opportunities provided for those who institute a search. Your fight-knowledge and effort.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Matters of personal nature worry. Life? This is a really "big" dilemma. Determine how smoothly you will advance. Study others' experience, plus ask for a little advice — competent authority.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Third day Mercury smiles on your diligent efforts. This series should lighten your heart, encourage ambition and substantial cooperation from you where needed. Steer straight, steady course.

June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Major Moon configuration. Someone close to you doing their "dumbest" to add you, your interests. Reconcile. Jointly share in rewards. They will you enjoy more, benefit more happily.

July 23 to August 22 (Leo) — A lion roars in your sector. "Impossibilities" but several aggravations likely. We all must retrench. Slow down at times. Look again at your policy — go over tactics.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — A month of really "big" day rightly used. Your planet in eminent position. Personal matters, sound business, delicate and intricate issues, research among numerous favors.

September 23 to October 22 (Libra) — Race back a few days, the you satisfied with performance? Enough brains? Progress made? Were mistakes costly, corrected in time? Carry on! Controlled, confident in true ability.

October 23 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Interim day moving from less suspicious to more prompt period. Set in motion wheels of coordinated industry; aim to grind out a colorful, rugged triumph.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Planet Jupiter indicates a wedding between indecision and controlled strength. Continue momentum of past unfurling course tempered by cool reason. Seek opinions, mutual effective action.

December 23 to January 22 (Capricorn) — Up to you to convince others of the merit of your ideas, wisdom of a schedule. Demands of our positions tend to shatter our ways. Investigate worthwhile new projects, leads.

January 23 to February 22 (Aquarius) — Very a bit of Uranus aspect for added boost. Do not let contradictory elements or conflicting emotions stifle a stout heart and well-knit program, properly executed.

February 23 to March 22 (Pisces) — Is it time to call a temporary halt to experiments? Stay actually close to calculated and tried routes. Don't be prey to schemers when guard may be down if momentarily tired or annoyed.

TV Highlights

CBS IS CHANGING its daytime schedule, effective June 18, a Monday through Friday version of "To Tell the Truth" will be scheduled from 3:30 to 3:55 p. m.; "The Verdict is Yours," currently in the 3:30 time slot will move to 11 to 11:30 a. m., Monday through Friday. "The Brighter Day," (now seen from 4 to 4:15) will expand and be seen from 11:30 to 11:55 a. m. "The Secret Storm," (now seen from 4:15 to 4:30) will expand and be seen from 4 to 4:30. "Video Village" and "The Clear Horizon" are being terminated after June 15.

Terry Wilson is featured on tonight's episode of "Wagon Train." In his role as assistant wagon-master he kills a gunman and then is mystified to learn that the man "died," a hero's death five years earlier. Chs. 3 and 4 from 7:30 to 8:30. Next, from 8:30 to 9, Milton Berle guest stars on "The Joey Bishop Show" and Jackie Coogan is featured. Joey as Joey Barnes is about to make his television comedy debut.

Guest stars Don Taylor and Julie Adams portray, respectively, an ex-star athlete who can't face reality and a wife who must in "The Smedley Man" on "Checkmate" from 8:30 to 9:30 on Chs. 2 and 10. The drama is concerned with gambling conspiracy in sports.

"The Dick Van Dyke Show" is a repeat—how Rob and Laura met when she was with a USO unit. From 9:30 to 10 on Chs. 2 and 10.

Lola Albright is a guest on "The Perry Como Show" from 9 to 10 on Chs. 3 and 4. Joe E. Tata, Eddie Arco and Sam Renick are joining Perry to salute Derby week and the state of Kentucky will be honored as "the state of the week." Following, on the "Bob Newhart Show," Connie Stevens is a guest. In his monodrama, Bob finds two enemy soldiers who refuse to believe World War II is over. In a sketch with Sam Stevens, Bob checks the belief that truck drivers know the best places to eat.

Tallulah Bankhead, making one of her infrequent television appearances, will play the starring role in "A Man for Oona" from 10 to 11 on Chs. 2 and 10. Miss Bankhead plays the mother of two daughters, one of whom is married. She concentrates on getting a husband for her second daughter but her attempts are unsuccessful. Pound Out 11 Hits As Alden Tosses 4-Hitter

E-Burg Hands Pen Argyl First Loss Of Season 4-1

By Tony Cesare Sports Editor

IF ANY L-N league team were to beat East Stroudsburg High, it might have been Pen Argyl.

But the defending league champions didn't even come close, as the Cavaliers bludgeoned a 4-1 victory to hand the Knights their first loss of the season. The winners pounded out 11 hits to Pen Argyl's 3.

East Stroudsburg, who performed like champions at bat and in the field, took a 1-0 lead in the fifth. Pen Argyl had to resort to a steal of home to tie the game — but even this lasted only a few minutes when Eastburg exploded for the clinching runs in the sixth. Pen Argyl is 1-3 in league; Eastburg is now 2-2 and 3-2 overall.

Combining power and good fielding, and best of all — the 4-hit pitching of Clint Alden, the Cavaliers subdued the visitors with a three-run outburst in the last of the six to snap a 1-1 tie.

Miserable Weather

The weather was miserable, but the partisan crowd didn't mind a bit. Despite the bone-chilling dampness that hung over the East Stroudsburg Playground Field, the crowd remained to the very last out.

The Cavalier's Alden, a hefty right-hander who had started for the first time, handcuffed the heavy-hitting champions. He bested Knight ace, Dave Uliana in a battle that went scoreless for the first four frames.

In the fifth, the Cavaliers broke the deadlock on a solo rally. The run seemed almost enough to win as the murky

Cincinnati Clubs Mets, Ex-Mate Hook For 8-2 Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Cincinnati knocked out ex-teammate Jay Hook in a four-run fourth inning Tuesday night and clubbed the New York Mets for an 8-2 victory behind Joey Jay's pitching.

Jay, winning his third game, hit a three-run homer off Sherman Jones in the sixth and set down the Mets with eight hits.

Frank Thomas' seventh home run gave the Mets an early lead in the second before the pitching collapse began. Manager Casey Stengel used five pitchers.

Leon Wagner Bangs 2 Hrs For LA Win

CLEVELAND (AP)—Leon Wagner hit two home runs in Los Angeles' 8-6 victory over Cleveland Tuesday night as each club hit three roundtrippers.

Wagner, who has hit half of his eight homers this year against Cleveland, sparked a four-run blast off rookie southpaw Sam McDowell (1-1), the loser. He hit a solo homer off Frank Funk in the second, his fifth in his last seven games.

Chuck Essegian hit a solo blast of winner Bo Belinsky (3-6), in the first.

Earl Averill's solo homer off Bob Allen in the sixth, his first, gave the Angels a 6-1 edge.

The Indians made it 6-2 with a run in the sixth but the Angels tallied twice in the seventh.

A two run homer by Gene Green in the seventh cut the Angels' lead to 8-4.

After Woodie Held singled off the Angels' Eli Grba in the eighth, rookie Al Luplow hit his third homer of the year.

THE ARRIVAL—James F. Hazen, standing left, directs the stocking of about 100unker trout in the Brodheads Creek which took place yesterday afternoon. The trout, ranging in lengths from 18 to 26 inches, were brought to the area in glass tanks from the Paradise Fish Hatchery at Bellefonte. Assisting in the distribution is game warden John Doehling (left), Stanley Oney Jr., special fish warden, and Rep. Van D. Yetter. Yetter is a member of the state Fish Commission. A crowd estimated at about 300 watched the stocking at Stokes Mill Bridge area.

skies became heavier and rain seemed imminent.

Russ Tranue, who undoubtedly will become a regular after his performance, started the fifth inning with a double to deep left. Alden was safe as Tranue was out in a rundown between third and second. Bill Reese singled to center as Cava had men on first and second with one down.

Jack Van Horn went out on fielder's choice, short-stop to second, but Don Wescott — a mainstay on the Cavs squad — belted a long ground rule double to left field. The ball neared the road in deep left. Jack Vinyard flew to center to end the inning.

Steals Home

Sensing the game might be called, Pen Argyl's coach John Laky pulled two steals of home in a move to knot the count. It worked. One steal of home by Fred Sauverine in the top of the sixth tied the ball game at 1-all. But with two down and Mike Mamento on third, another attempt to steal home failed as he was caught in the act.

Many would have been satisfied with the 1-1 tie, but not the Cavaliers. Continuing their fight, they exploded for three runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Mike Boushell commenced the hitting barrage off Uliana. But Boushell was out on fielder's choice as Jim Steele held first. Brian Farris connected with a double to place Cavaliers on second and third.

With one down, lefty Russ Tranue took Uliana's first offering and promptly set it deep into the leftfield corner. Two runs crossed the plate and Tranue took possession of third on the relays to home.

Alden followed suit as he rocketed a double to left to score Tranue with the third run. Anything would have been anticlimatic, and it was, as Reese struck out. Van Horn walked and Wescott went out short to second.

The Cavaliers had the game.

Nazareth Nips Bangor High 1-0 In L-N League Contest

BANGOR — Nazareth eked out a 1-0 victory over the Slaters of Bangor High yesterday to garner their first win in the Lehigh-Northampton League.

Nazareth, now 1-3 in the loop, put together two hits in the fourth frame to capture the win.

Bangor's Sherwood Heard lost a 3-hitter in the fray. Bob Engler, who got credit for the win, hurled four-hit ball for the Eagles.

Two of the Slaters four hits came off the bat of Frankie Holland as he went 2-for-3 in the contest.

In the run-scoring fourth inning, Nazareth's Sam Werkheiser banged out a triple. He promptly rode home on Bob Gruello's single.

Bangor almost pulled it out of the fire in the home half of the seventh.

South Teams Granted EHL Franchises

NEW YORK (AP) — Jacksonville, Fla., and Nashville, Tenn., were granted franchises in the Eastern Hockey League Tuesday. The move increased to 10 the number of teams in the circuit.

"Representatives of both cities will have to comply with certain condition by June 1," said Tom Lockhart, EHL president. "But I have every confidence that they will."

Lockhart added that among the conditions are $75,000 working capital, 75 per cent local ownership by a minimum of 10 stockholders and at least a 1-year lease with owners of the building where the games will be played.

The new teams will join Greensboro and Charlotte, N.C., and Knoxville, Tenn., in the league's Southern Division. Philadelphia, which was in the Southern Division last season, will move into the Northern Division and join Clinton, N.Y., New Haven, Johnstown, Pa., and the Comack team representing Long Island.

PALMER'S FAST START

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — The fastest start made by a PGA golfer in 1961 was in the second round of the Insurance City Open at Wethersfield, Conn. Arnold Palmer began his round with birdie, eagle, birdie, par and birdie. He was five under par for five holes and shot a 67. Palmer, however, barely finished in the money in the annual tournament.

Stengel Wins Plaque As Baseball's Best Salesman

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel and Madison Avenue, a marriage made in a brewery boardroom, got together Tuesday. Casey responded by running a trade (Charley Neal for Willie Mays) up the flag pole to see if any one did.

Casey, who can steal four columns of space with a wink and a one-game winning streak, made a speech to the Sales Executive Club at a Madison Avenue hotel. The salesmen, who recognize a master, gave him a standing ovation.

"The amazing Mets are in an amazing slump," Stengel said, and then detailed the troubles of his club which tied a record for opening futility on their first try.

"We had to purchase these men (the Mets) from the demon salesman in baseball to get into business," Stengel said. "And sometimes we put these men back up for sale. And those wonderful salesmen, those wonderful people in baseball, would you believe it, they don't want those men back."

"The more we talk to them the more we discover that they think they only made about four mistakes. And they are trying to fix that. Oh, we could trade those four men back, all right."

Four Clubs

"We could give them to any of four clubs and those clubs would run away with the race. A fella came to me the other day and said why don't you give Neal to San Francisco? He'd make it for the Giants."

"And I said he probably would but I'm not getting paid to make it for the Giants. And I asked 'who do I get?'"

"And you know the fellow forgot the name of Mays. He even forgot the name of (Orlando) Cepeda, and the five or six other fellows they've got over there who could play for me. He forgot all about them."

"So we can't make the trades we need. We're going to have to go to the farm system and that takes money and time."

"So I want all you salesmen to go home and sell your boys on playing baseball, and when they forget older to play for the Mets and only ask for a small bonus."

An award was pressed on Stengel for being "baseball's top salesman of 1962." It came in a package, and Stengel rustled around in the wrappings, looking, he said, for home plate.

"My players can't seem to find it," he said. "Now you can pick up the bases and the equipment, the bats and balls, from time to time, when you finish a game, but home plate is supposed to just sit there in the ground all day, but we can't seem to find it."

Let's Face It, Baseball Has All The Proper Names

By Joe Reichler Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — What's in a baseball name? Let's Face It: Roy! It, baseball is still king (Jim). No other sport has a Chance (Dean), Nunn (Howie) whatsoever.

Most other sports are played Weekly (John) while baseball is played Daily (Bill). It presents a Golden (Jim) opportunity to young athletes. The hours are Short (Chris), the career can be Long (Dale) provided you are Fairly (Ron) Good.

Senators End Losing Skein With 2-1 Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pete Burnside blanked Boston after the first inning Tuesday night, and with a masterful four-hitter broke the Washington Senators' 13-game losing streak by beating the Red Sox, 2-1.

The Senators scored the winning run in the eighth when Jim Piersall led off with a double off Lou Clinton's glove at the fence in right field, Chuck Hinton ran for Piersall.

Jim King hit a high pop back of the plate, but Jim Pagliaroni dropped it for an error. Hinton then went to third on a passed ball, King scored Hinton with a sacrifice fly to left.

The Senators had not won a game since April 13 when Burnside beat Cleveland in the Indian home opener.

Burnside gave up only two hits after the first inning.

Roman Line Easily Wins 35th Derby Trial Running

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Roman Line splashed into the lead just before turning into the home stretch and easily won the 35th running of the $16,000 Derby Trial at Churchill Downs Tuesday.

The J.V.P. Stable's Lee Town, who led midway in the 1-mile race, a final test for Saturday's $125,000-added Kentucky Derby, finished second and the Reverie Knoll Farm's Sharp Count was third.

Royal Attack, a California owned colt who won the Santa Anita Derby, finished a dismal fourth in the field of seven 3-year-olds. None are highly rated for the Derby.

Jockey Jimmy Combest rode Roman Line, who was timed in 1 minute 37 1-5 on the track, left sloppy by heavy showers the past 24 hours. It was far off the track record of 1:34 3-5 set by Crozier in last year's race.

Roman Line, owned by T.A. Grissom of Detroit, finished third in the Blue Grass Stakes last Thursday at Keeneland.

Ridan, one of the big Derby favorites, won the Blue Grass and Decidedly was second. In that race Roman Line finished 6 1/4 lengths behind the winner.

The winner paid $4, $3.20 and $2.60. Lee Town returned $6.40 and $3.80 and Sharp Count was $3.00 to show.

At the start of the race from the mile chute leading straight into the backstretch, Willie Shoemaker sent Sharp Count into the lead. Lee Town was second and Roman Line third.

Going into the far turn, with about a half mile remaining,

Sharp Count began to fall back and Willie Carstens sent Lee Town in front rounding the bend. Then Combest moved Roman Line quickly to the outside, overhauled Lee Town and established a half length lead as they straightened for home with a quarter of a mile remaining.

The favorite drew away with every stride and won with Combest pulling him up. The margin was six big lengths.

Lee Town finished three quarters of a length ahead of Sharp Count and Royal Attack was another 2 1/2 lengths away.

Bigger Bonus finished fifth, with Boone Co. sixth and Mister Pitt last. Mister Pitt, the second choice at 7-2, ran a dismal race and probably decided his Derby status — out.

There's also a question of whether Royal Attack, trained by Bud dy Hersch, or perhaps Roman Line will return in the Derby Saturday.

Meanwhile, 13 other horses, their heavy Derby training virtually completed, awaited the 88th running of America's greatest classic. Outstanding among those who have completed major chores are C. T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord and Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan.

Others marking time until the $125,000-added struggle at 1 1/4 miles are Mrs. J. W. Brown's Green Hornet, Peter Salmen, Sr.'s Crimson Satan, E. Peco Ranch's Decidedly, Estopinal and Arnaud's Touch Bar, F & B Farm's Good Flight, Fred W. Hooper's Admiral's Voyage, Robert Lehman's Prego, Townsend B. Martin's Sunrise County, Lionel C. Harness Unit Okays Merger Of Keystone, Bucks Groups

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State Harness Racing Commission Tuesday approved merger of the Keystone and Bucks County racing associations and the transfer of a proposed track location in Washington County.

At the same time, the commission was told definitely there will be no racing in Washington County this year and probably not until next June.

Since the Liberty Bell Racing Association, which along with Bucks and Washington County groups have the only three track licenses approved, has said it will not operate until next year, Gov. Lawrence's estimate of $1.5 million state income from racing appears to be fading fast.

The three-member commission approved the stock transfer between Bucks and Keystone conditioned on subsequent approval of the character of stockholders. The racing law requires that persons having interests in tracks be of good moral character.

Under the merger agreement, scheduled to be completed Thursday, the Bucks County group will sell 350,000 of its 1,000,000 shares to Keystone for $700,000. In addition, Keystone will loan Bucks $900,000 at 4 percent interest.

Bucks will operate its 50 racing days yearly in the Philadelphia track to be built and operated by Liberty Bell.

The Washington County Trotting Association received commission approval to transfer its track site from the Meadows Farm of Delvin R. Miller to the T. L. McCarrell Farm along Route 19 about three miles north of Washington.

M. Joseph Lynch, general manager of the Washington association, said the change was made because the 322-acre McCarrell property affords more space and better transportation.

Atty. Jonathan Allison, counsel for the Washington County association, asked and received commission approval to delay start of construction of a track until Sept. 15, 1962.

He said the group wanted to push back the original starting time, set for this spring, until it completes a prospectus for potential stockholders.

Lombardi Is Praised At Sports Fete

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — The National Football League commissioner called him a great success story. His former coach referred to him as an outstanding person, and an "enemy" said he richly deserved the tribute.

The tribute was a big civic testimonial dinner Monday night and the man was one of Green Bay's leading citizens — Packer Coach Vince Lombardi.

The event, sponsored by the Elks lodge, was attended by 600 prominent figures in sports as well as leading local dignitaries.

Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, presented Lombardi the Jim Thorpe Trophy, emblematic of the league championship won by the Packers last year.

"This is one of the great success stories of all time," Rozelle said, referring to Lombardi and to the team he heads as coach and general manager. Rozelle praised the Packers for "divesting themselves of a power group in 1959 and putting themselves into the hands of one man."

George Halas of the Chicago Bears referred to himself as an avowed enemy of the Packers but said that Lombardi richly deserved the tribute.

A telegram from Red Blaik, former Army football coach, was read. Blaik called Lombardi America's best coach.

Pascual Bats, Pitches Win Over Orioles

ST. PAUL-MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ace Cuban right-hander Camilo Pascual pitched and batted Minnesota to an 8-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Tuesday as the Twins snapped a five-game home losing streak and stretched a modest winning skid to three games.

Pascual hurled his fourth complete game for his fourth win against one setback this season. In the process, he whacked a two-run home run off Oriole starter and loser Chuck Estrada in the second inning.

He permitted nine Baltimore hits, including Jim Gentile's fifth home run, a 400-foot poke into the right field bull pen with a man on in the eighth. The 161 American League strikeout king whiffed only three and issued but one walk.

Baltimore 010 000 020-3 9 2 Minnesota 030 000 32x-8 13 0

Estrada, Stock (7), Lebew (7), Hoeft (8) and Triandos; Pascual and Battey, W-Pascual (4-1), L — Estrada (1-3).

Home runs—Baltimore, Gentile (5), Minnesota, Pascual (1).

Detroit's Jim Bunning made 37 starts in 1961 but completed only 12 baseball games.

LATE START, FAST WIN — Barbara Brooks, left, from Safe Harbor, Lancaster County, and Barbara Cowan, Roseland, N. J., blanked their West Chester opponents 6-0, in the first doubles match the ESSC women's tennis team played this year. Three times the matches were postponed due to bad weather, (with Ursinus, Swarthmore and Moravian). Yesterday afternoon, drizzle, fog and dampness failed to halt the action. ESSC won 4-1.

Scranton Asks EBL To Sell Its Franchise

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — The Scranton team Tuesday night authorized the Eastern Basketball League to sell its franchise.

The action, at the annual league meeting, was accompanied by a request that the league attempt to keep the team in that city.

The Scranton franchise has been financially weak and the sale offer was not unexpected.

The league re-elected its president, Harry Rudolph, of Wilkes-Barre, and its secretary-treasurer, Ray Saul, of Hazleton.

Re-elected to the board of governors were David Walters of Allentown and Jack Agnor of Williamsport. Harold Simon of Trenton was named to replace William Riccio of Hazleton for the third two-year term on the board.

The league announced its draft meeting will be held June 11 in Hazleton.

Johnny Antonelli, now with the New York Mets, made seven starts for Cleveland in 1961 and failed to finish one game.

Industrial Softball Loop With 6 Teams, Opens May 7

MONROE County Industrial Softball League will open its season Monday, May 7, at 7 p.m. The Games will be played at the Kulps Foundry Field.

Four teams, Line Material, Coates Board and Carton Co., Trumatic Machine, and Wyckoff-Sears are returning from last year's league, with Shaw Insulator, and Kulps Foundry the new teams making up the six-team league.

The league had a possibility of eight teams but due to working hours in various plants only six teams entered.

The Industrial Management Club will offer a trophy to the winner of the league. Trumatic Machine won the trophy last year and will defend for this year. The league looks pretty well balanced.

The league will meet Thursday at 7 p.m. at the Monroe YMCA. President Ted Stevens urges all entry fees and rosters be presented at this meeting.

JOHN "BOOG" POWELL
BALTIMORE LEFT FIELDER, TABBED AS NO. 1 ROOKIE BEFORE THE SEASON, IS NOW TRYING TO MAKE THE EXPERTS LOOK GOOD.

THIS POWERFUL 20-YEAR-OLD IS SO HEFTY (5-9 1/2 AND 240 POUNDS) HE LOOKS AS THOUGH HE HAS SWUNG A LITTLE LEAGUE BAT — HE AIMS TO PROVE OTHERWISE.

PICK A SIZE PICK A PRICE

$1951 Manufacturer's suggested retail price for the Dodge Dart 2-door sedan, exclusive of white walls and destination charges.

$2241 Manufacturer's suggested retail price for the Dodge Dart 6-cylinder 2-door sedan, exclusive of white walls and destination charges.

$2964 Manufacturer's suggested retail price for the Dodge Custom 880 4-door sedan, exclusive of white walls and destination charges.

PICK A DODGE!

BIG DODGE CUSTOM 880—This Dodge is custom-made for the big car man. It's big, all right. And packed with luxury. Almost 18 feet long. Chair-high seats. A big ride on a long 122" wheelbase. Big power from a mighty 361 cu. in. V8. The Custom 880 is big in everything but price. Without doubt, the biggest bargain on four wheels.

NEW SIZE DODGE DART—Sized right in the middle of the big and little. Two feet shorter than America's longest car; two feet bigger than the smallest. You get family-size room in an agile, parkable car. The most powerful standard 6 in the business; the hottest standard V8 near its price. Like every Dodge, Dart offers Torsion-Aire ride, rustproofing, 32,000 miles between grease jobs.

COMPACT DODGE LANCER GT—If you want a compact that does more than save gas, Lancer is your answer. Car Life calls it America's best handling compact. It's one of the hottest, too. Lancer GT, a snazzy bucket seat job, is America's first Sports-Compact. Try it at your Dodge Dealer.

Pocono Mountains International Raceway
By RACING, INCORPORATED

Vacation Bureau President Enthusiastic:—

Mr. William Altier, President of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau, spoke in glowing terms of the location of the proposed multi-million dollar International Raceway. The proposed raceway site is eight miles east of the Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, about half-way from Allentown to the south to Wilkes-Barre on the north. It lies just east of the junction of Pennsylvania Routes 940 and 115 and west of the proposed junction of U.S. Interstate Routes 80 and 81s, when these two interstate highways, now under construction, are completed. It also lies east of the proposed Junction of Interstate 84 and 81 and the existing Northeast Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

It is within 100 miles of New York and Philadelphia and an estimated 36 million people reside within 135 miles.

Referring to a recent New York Times story which listed automotive racing as the fastest growing spectator sport in the world, Mr. Altier said "From the point of view of the economy of Northeast Pennsylvania and particularly the resort industry of Pocono Mountains, the proposed raceway will undoubtedly serve as the greatest single addition to the facilities of the Poconos."

Based upon present plans, the raceway will be the largest automotive racing facility east of the famous Indianapolis Speedway and north of Florida's Daytona International Speedway.

The Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau heartily endorses the proposed raceway because of its potential to the economy of Northeastern Pennsylvania.

The Daily Investor

Try To Hold It!

By William A. Doyle

Q. I work for Standard Oil Co. (Indiana). Through the company's employee savings plan, six percent of my monthly wages are used to buy stock in the company. For each dollar I put into this plan, the company puts in an additional 50 cents. I now have about 50 shares of Standard of Indiana stock.

A. Sure. Ownership of 51 percent (actually anything over 50 percent) of a company's voting stock results in absolute control. If you own more than half of the voting stock of a company, you are in absolute control of that company.

However, ownership of 30 percent (or even a somewhat smaller percentage) of a company's voting stock usually results in "working control." If you own, say, 20 percent of the voting stock of a company, that may very well be enough for you to elect all the directors of the company and to control the company.

You see, 20 percent would be enough for working control, if no other individual or group owns more than 20 percent and if all other stockholders own only relatively small amounts of the stock.

Q. What does the "C.I.T." stand for in C.I.T. Financial Corp.?

A. Technically, those initials don't stand for anything. C.I.T. Financial Corp. is this company's complete corporate name. At one time, the company's name was Commercial Investment Trust Corp. The name was shortened to its present form in April, 1955.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Q. I read in the paper that a well-known family has "control" of a certain company, because that family owns 30 percent of the company's voting stock. I thought that it is necessary to own 51 percent of a company's stock, in order to have control. Can you explain this?

A. Sure. Ownership of 51 percent (actually anything over 50 percent) of a company's voting stock results in absolute control. If you own more than half of the voting stock of a company, you are in absolute control of that company.

However, ownership of 30 percent (or even a somewhat smaller percentage) of a company's voting stock usually results in "working control." Cut Rubber Price

NEW YORK (AP)—Two rubber companies have pared the price of polybutadiene synthetic rubber by about 8 per cent, following a similar cut made by Phillips Petroleum Co.

The two firms, Firestone Tire and Rubber and Goodyear Tire and Rubber, reduced the price by 2½ cents a pound to 27½ cents.

The prairie provinces of Canada are Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Inhabitants raise wheat and cattle and prospect for oil and ores.

Enrollment Up

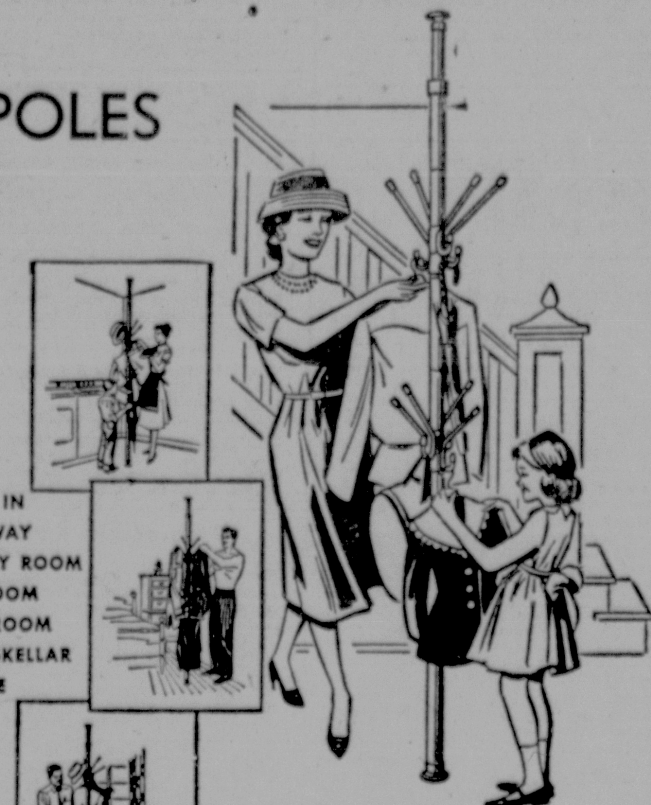

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Enrollment for the spring term at Pennsylvania State University is up slightly over last year. The institution reported yesterday that 21,337 students enrolled for the term ending June 8, compared with 20,800 last year.
